K`HO ORGANIC COFFEE

Come and enjoy 100% Arabica, single origin, farmer direct coffee beans.

Vietnam is the second largest producer of coffee in the world, but the domestic market is comparatively small.

The Vietnamese are traditionally tea drinkers. French colonists introduced coffee and K`Ho tribespeople successfully grew heirloom Arabica from the 19th century onwards.

War disrupted production and trade for about 20 years but it started up again and the economy is now booming; in 1994, 60% of all Vietnamese people lived under the poverty line and that has now fallen to less than 10%. Much of this was thanks to the hardy Robusta coffee tree, a relation to the Arabica tree.

The Robusta tree is easier to grow at lower altitudes and produces larger beans with more caffeine but half of the chemicals that make up the complex flavor in a cup of brewed Arabica.

Traditional Vietnamese coffee balances the bitter taste of Robusta with condensed milk (ca phe sua da), or even eggs (ca phe trung). Coffee drinkers the world over may not know it, but they too drink Vietnamese Robusta, in instant coffees.

Overall, coffee production has been good for Vietnam, but there have also been downsides: deforestation, soil exhaustion and the exploitation of local farmers.

K`Ho Coffee seeks to change this, growing their coffee in eco-friendly ways and putting the profits back into the hands of the growers.

SPIRITS

Whisky

Irish Whisky:

Jameson Original 100k

Jameson is produced from a blend of grain whiskey and single pot still whiskey, which uses a mixture of malted and unmalted or "green" Irish barley, all sourced from within a fifty-mile radius around the distillery in Cork.

Bourbon Jim Beam 95k

Bourbon made in Kentucky, distilled from a grain mixture including at least 51% corn; the remainder is rye and malted barley.

Georgia Moon Corn-Peach Whiskey 95k

An interesting and enjoyable drink, new make, distilled from corn and flavoured with peach. A delicious spirit from Georgia Moon, aged for less than a month. Vegan Friendly.

Bulleit 140k

The current Bulleit bourbon whiskey contains 68% corn, 28% rye, and 4% malted barley. Bottled at 45% abv., this is a blend of barrels at 5 to 8 years old.

Blended: 120k

Chivas Regal

Blended Scotch whisky produced by Chivas Brothers, part of Pernod Ricard. It's roots trace back to 1801, in Scotland's oldest operating Highland distillery.

J.W.Red Label 120k

A non age blended whisky, this has been the best selling Scotch whisky in the world since 1945. Its primary use now is for making mixed drinks.

Single Malt: 190k

Laphroaig Four Oak

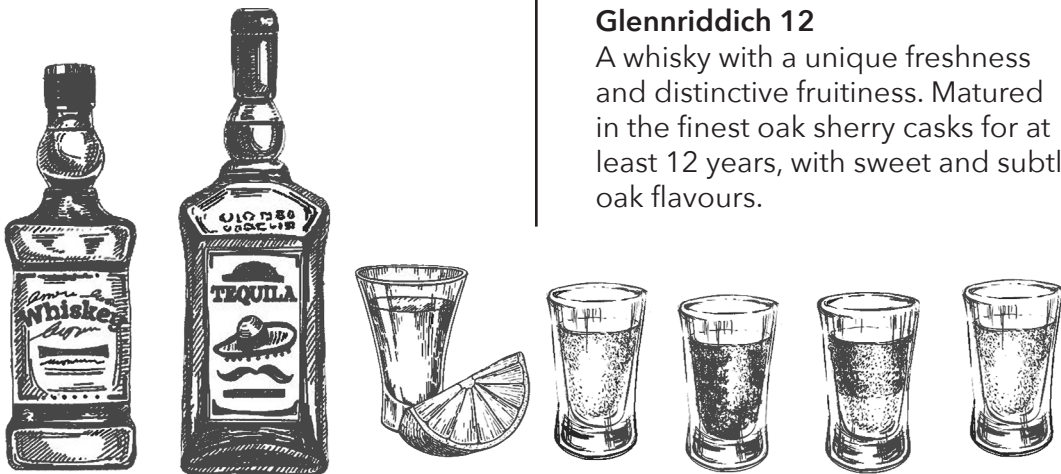

One of the most recognizable whiskies in the world. Those that love big, smoky and briny Islay whiskies will find themselves enamored with Laphroaig. Distilled from malted barley dried over a peat fire, then aged for 10 years.

Bowmore 275k

An Islay Single Malt Scotch Whisky, and masterful combination of ripe fruit, dark chocolate and Islay smoke. Stored in the finest oak casks and allowed to mature at its own pace, this is one of the most perfectly balanced single malt scotch whiskies of its kind.

Glennriddich 12 220k

A whisky with a unique freshness and distinctive fruitiness. Matured in the finest oak sherry casks for at least 12 years, with sweet and subtle oak flavours.
